

PAINTINGS of
The French West Indies
by
Christina Morton

SEPTEMBER 23rd to OCTOBER 6th, 1924

THE MACBETH GALLERY
15 EAST 57th STREET
NEW YORK CITY

These pictures form a part of the pageant of Martinique in the first two chapters of The Veiled Empress by Benjamin A. Morton. (Putnam) Eight of them are reproduced in color in The Veiled Empress.

“The paintings give a vivid glimpse of the joyous clash of color in the costumes, a flower of eighteenth century France run riot in tropical soil.”
