NEW YORK CITY

Foreword

THE collection of paintings and water colors listed here present Mr. Tiffany in a phase which, to most of our visitors, will be a surprising and delightful departure from the work with which his name is more usually associated.

It is a far cry from memorial windows to scenes in Italy and the towns of Algiers; from the great art foundation which bears his name to the snows of the Canadian northwest. And the artist in glass, the patron of fellow-artists, might well not be an artist with the brush. Whether in glass or on canvas, however, Mr. Tiffany's art is real, his grasp sure.

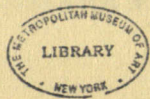

We welcome to our galleries this first retrospective showing of a side of his work that thus far has been too little seen in American exhibitions.
