NEW YORK CITY

FOREWORD

OUR "Thirty Paintings by Thirty Artists" has been an annual event for so many years that it is particularly appropriate for it to open our new galleries. It is merely a coincidence that it comes at this time, for it was scheduled while we still expected to make our move during the coming summer. Since it has unexpectedly become an "occasion," we are sorry for the numerical limitation imposed by our hanging facilities. It is necessary to omit several artists whose association with us has been long and intimate. They will understand, and will be well taken care of in future groups, but an initial bow from 15 East 57th Street would not be in order without a word of acknowledgment to absent as well as present exhibitors, many of whom go back over a good part of our thirty-two years' history.
